The Whisky Ex-[illegible]

St Louis, Nov. 20.—The first witness to-day in the McDonald trial—McKee of the Globe Democrat testified that he knew J M Fitzroy and J A Joyce. Knew received any money from Joyce [illegible] presence of Fitzroy [illegible] by the former, never had any [illegible] agreement with Maguire, Lev[illegible] Joyce or any one else, with reference [illegible] to the whisky ring On cross [illegible] Joyce or Levings[illegible] paid him any money for campaign purposes, or any other, was not on any campaign committee Never had special personal knowledge of the whisky ring and knew nothing more than was published in our papers About nine [illegible] ago Englehardt requested witness to go to [illegible] with Maguire to procure the release of [illegible] arrested [illegible] declined. That was the only [illegible] witness ever had with him, consulted with Maguire, but did not accomplish anything When did a total Fitzroy anything concerning any one implicated in the whisky ring Maguire had better not Fitzroy, as he (witness) might get into trouble Never talked with Joyce on the subject, only knew Joyce as a politician and an active worker for the party

Cross-examined the Marquis testified Have lived in St Louis 25 years was U S collector from November 1869, to June 30th, 1875 never had any connection with the whisky ring Never received any money from that quarter

Cross-examined Fitzroy was a deputy in whisky cases, did not know what he was indicted for at that time, but Fitzroy and witness had understood their resignations previous to this Witness referred to Washington officials said Upton was in charge of the office just before his own appointment, Upton never told witness How he got to Washington officials for the destruction of his office record

Col. Newcomb, ex-U S Marshal testified that he had sent any money from the whisky ring since the first of the year existence did in 1874, when in Sept 1873, a man named Reunion employed as a detective, [illegible] that Avery reported to him [illegible] whisky distilling made short, and he would be of service at that effect, When he left Bates & Prather's employ he had given them a sworn statement that they illicit distilling had been done to the amount of $3,000 to be paid [illegible] They failed to carry out their agreement, and he refused to expose their fraud. This was reported to Attorney General Williams, and it was agreed that witness and the district attorney select a man to assess and the [illegible] to be appointed by Commissioner [illegible] Thomas was selected and Attorney General Williams telegraphed to that effect, and although the telegram was delivered to [illegible] was never received. Joyce would always tell witness that these stories were made up by disappointed [illegible] for the purpose of injuring him and [illegible] McDonald. Witness said that whatever [illegible] $40 gave information of fraud, always [illegible] McDonald were in the ring and should not be notified of any contemplated action

N. Y. Evening Telegram, Washington correspondence of the [illegible] testified that Maguire's reputation [illegible] Washington among his friends, was not good he was a master where Maguire is personally intoxicated, [illegible] would not believe him under [illegible] oath, [illegible] reputation.

Threatened Fire at Harrisburg

Harrisburg Nov 21 An incendiary fire to night destroyed the Harrisburg bottling Park stables Nine horses were burned

WASHINGTON CITY

Treasurer New Reimburses the Government for Stolen Money.

Washington Nov 18—The $3 000 stolen from government during Treasurer New's administration, $1,000 at one time and $2,000 at a later period were paid into the treasury soon after the loss was reported by Mr New, from his private resources He has not accused any of the employes. The arrangements in the treasurer's office to guard against losses are as perfect as possible Efforts are still making to discover the thief with a view to arrest and punishment.

Another Investigation.

Washington Nov 18—The commission to investigate the affairs of the second comptroller had a meeting to day but has not yet commenced its labors or decided on the scope of its action It has no money evidence in the F T Lugg and Witcomb cases has been obtained for examination from the third auditor and United States attorney Internal Revenue Commissioner Platt has been added to the commission and will be chairman

Washington Nov 18.—The annual report of Commodore Rowell chief of bureau of yards and docks at the navy department, has been submitted to Secretary Robeson He urges sufficient appropriation to finish the dry dock at Mare Island Call attention to work as possible and expresses the opinion that the yearly appropriations for that work if not [illegible] than those of the last three years will not be sufficient to accomplish the undertaking within four years The cost of the entire work will be about $7 000 000 and it is believed that if Congress will appropriate the necessary amount it can be finished in two years Mare Island navy yard is to be supplied with water by the Vallejo Water Company the bureau now being about to award the contract for that purpose

The Geneva Award.

Chicago Nov 19—A Washington special says the commission appointed under the act of congress on the distribution of the Geneva award will finish their labors on the 20th of January, and will have about $8 000 000 of the $15,000 000 unawarded to claimants The insurance companies and individuals who took war premiums have made a combination with a view to have a bill passed through congress at the present session to cover those losses There is much feeling over the matter The direction of legislation and recommendations of congressional committees heretofore have been against such claimants on the ground that the war premiums are excessive and that with few exceptions insurers made money There are other claimants for indirect damages, ruled out by act of congress who will join the insurance companies in the effort to pass a supplementary act Insurers claim they took the risks with the expectation that congress would relieve them if they became bankrupt through the [illegible] of the war There is a prospect of these bills being defeated, so that the $8 000 000 unexpended will go to keep company with the French spoliation fund in the treasury

Alabama Claims

In the court of commissioners of Alabama claims, to day, the following judgments were rendered: Case 765 N G Reed, of San Francisco $15 600 00; case 1 107 Paul Jones Kelly of Oakland Cal $780 85, case 1 203 Bertard Simon of California $3 902, case 1 205 Henry B Blakee of San Francisco, $506 05

Nepotism "not Advisable."

Washington Nov 19—The commissioner of Internal Revenue lately sent a letter to Col Young, collector of the fourth district of North Carolina, informing him that nepotism is not advisable by the department and it will be necessary for him to make certain dismissals

Indian [illegible] House

California Mission Indian Oligarchs chief of Temecula Indians of Southern California having been furnished transportation by the Interior Department started back to California this evening

Homes for the Mission Indians.

An executive order will soon be issued reserving for the benefit of California Mission Indians, small remaining tracts of unoccupied public land in the vicinity of their recent home, and it will be recommended that Congress make good by purchase, their loss of title to the rest of the lands heretofore occupied by them

Eminently Satisfactory.

Washington Nov 9—The action of Chief Justice Waite in attaching Brigham Young for [illegible] contempt of court for disobedience to the order of Judge McKean requiring him to pay alimony to Ann Eliza is satisfactory to the government It is the opinion of the Attorney General that the woman in question in marrying Brigham Young relied the U S statutes and therefore [illegible] in [illegible] behalf of her [illegible] wrongs

The Cuban Question Not in Issue.

Washington Nov 19 It is said in naval circles that the repair and preparation of vessels have no more reference to Spanish affairs than those of any other country There is no excitement concerning Spain or Cuba The President some time ago, while conversing on Cuban affairs merely referred to what he her before said in his annual message, but gave no intimation as to what he should say on the same subject in his next message to congress.

The Spanish Concession Confirmed

Washington Nov 20—Notwithstanding reports to the contrary it can be positively researched on the best authority that the Spanish minister was officially advised yesterday from Madrid that his government had conceded that in future American citizens on trial in Cuba shall have the privilege of getting counsel for the defense The fact is confirmed by information at the Department of State to the same subject

Madrid Nov 20—Government has determined that all foreigners tried in Cuba for participating in the insurrection be allowed to have counsel El Cronista says the last dispatch from Washington was discussed at a Cabinet council yesterday The present satisfactory situation promises a favorable and early settlement of all pending questions affecting our relations with the United States

Report of the Director of Mints

Washington, Nov 21—The annual report of the director of mints shows the coinage Gold $33,55[illegible] 925 silver $1 07[illegible] minor pieces $2 302 [illegible] total $43 884 708 The deposits were gold $18 556 293 silver $10 07[illegible] Additional vaults are required in the treasury offices in various parts of the country for storage of silver and in view of the contemplated resumption of specie payment Addition of assaying facilities to the New Orleans mint are submitted The director says the two years yield of the mines will, it is predicted, furnish sufficient silver to manufacture all the additional currency that can be advantageously used in the country after reduction of the fractional notes. The trade dollar coinage should be continued if for no other purpose than to make a local market for silver The purchase of silver bullion from January 1st to October 31st 1875 amounted to $8,349 747 at an averaged price of [illegible] cents charged all but [illegible] the [illegible] of the dollar eleven cents and four mills per ounce the coinage rate of fractional silver coins being one dollar twenty four cents and four mills per standard ounce The director speaks at length of the course of gold and silver during the last three years saying the monetary condition has not been caused by [illegible] supplies but by the [illegible] having been withdrawn, sums from circulation and the diminishing use of silver as a medium of exchange The low standing of the [illegible] of Germany is mentioned, and the chief cause of delay in its completion is attributed mainly to the [illegible] neighboring countries practically using what was expected would be its [illegible] currency [illegible] Manufacturing the new standard fractional coins has already amounted to [illegible] 00 000 The gold standard has to go into effect throughout the entire empire on the 1st of January 1876 in accordance with an Imperial decree and which would appear to indicate the supplying at an early day of the [illegible] metals that heretofore [illegible] with the withdrawal of depreciated legal tender silver coins When the completion of [illegible] with a total of the present silver coins shall have been accomplished of gold will enter freely into channels of circulation and it may then assume their natural course The manner the [illegible] monetary affairs in progress is complete and the Bank of France resumes specie payments the better it will be for Germany France and the United States The time fixed for resumption in France is July 1878 but it is probable it will take place before that time Whenever the German Empire shall have its great monetary reform well under way and when France once gets about her immense specie reserve to the active demand [illegible] will no doubt [illegible] the United States may resume specie payments [illegible] acquisition [illegible] to what [illegible] of coin for the resumption of specie payments

San Francisco, Nov 21—The brig Helvetia Olsen master left Humboldt Bay Oct 20th News has just been received that portions of her hull has come ashore at Gold Bluffs Nothing heard of those on board she had a crew of eight men She is supposed to have foundered in the recent heavy gales She belonged to J Kentfield & Co—uninsured She was an old vessel and been on the coast since 1852

A Canard.

San Francisco, Nov 21—In regard to a sensational article published in the Call and Chronicle this morning purporting to be based on information from trustworthy sources at Washington and elsewhere, to the effect that a treaty has been drafted and will be submitted to Congress at the coming session, providing for the cession by Mexico of territory lying south and west of the Rio Grande, including Lower California, in satisfaction of U S claims against Mexico, Acting Mexican Consul M G Pritchard, in an interview to-day says the report is undoubtedly a canard started for speculative purposes He bases his opinion partly on the fact that the Mexican constitution expressly prohibits any cession of territory, and that in order to carry any such treaty into effect it would first be necessary to amend the constitution which would require a two thirds vote of Congress after which the amendment must be submitted to the people for confirmation It is well known that considerable has been done by speculators in the way of taking valuable tracts of land in Mexican States mentioned in the articles referred to and Mr Pritchard considers present rumors as merely another stage in their game

Tremendous Rain Storm—Reservoirs Carried Away—Chinamen Drowned.

Sonora Cal Nov 21—During the 17th 18th and 19th about twelve inches of rain fell at this point, which is more than has fallen in the same length of time in this country since its settlement by the whites Both reservoirs on Sullivan creek, owned by the Phoenix Ditch Company were carried away the lower one going first the upper one following in about an hour, carrying off bridges and houses and drowning several Chinamen All mails delayed from Tuesday till this evening

Fire at Albany.

Albany, Nov 21—About half past 7 this evening a fire broke out on the upper floor of the Democrat building and soon the flames were lighting through the sides and roof By prompt efforts of our firemen and citizens it was at once subdued with a total loss to building [illegible] dollars insured

THE FRANCO AMERICAN UNION

In the dispatches by Atlantic cable appears the report of a grand fete given in Paris by the Franco American Union This association, formed only a short time since is doing much to promote mutual good fellowship between the people of the respective nations A short time since Mr Laboulaye, who is President of the Union issued a circular, of which the following is—excepting the formal parts—a copy

America will soon celebrate the centennial anniversary of her independence This date marks an epoch in human history To the new world it records its sublime work, the foundation of the grand republic, to France, one of the most honorable pages of her history.

We believe, as well as our friends of the United States, that it affords a solemn occasion to unite France and America in a common manifestation. Notwithstanding the long past time, the United States like to recall to mind an ancient fraternity in arms, the name of France is always honored by them The great event which will be performed the 4th of July, 1876 permits us to celebrate with our American friends the old and sincere friendship which so long united both nations.

The new world is preparing to give to this great festival an extraordinary splendor some friends of the United States thought that the geny of France should show itself in a cordial and striking manner A French artist rendered that idea in a project worthy of its purpose, and which has reunited all approbations, in going to America he came to an understanding with our friends, and prepared all the means of execution

The question is to elevate in commemoration of the glorious anniversary an exceptional monument In the middle of the New York harbor, on a little island belonging to the union, facing Long Island where the first blood has been shed for the independence, will be raised a colossal statue shewing its grand figure in the space horizoned by the large cities of New York, Jersey City and Brooklyn At the entrance of that vast continent, full of new hits, where ships meet from all points of the world it will look as spreading up from the foam of the deep representing liberty enlightening the world At night a luminous aureola projected from the head, will radiate on the far flowing waves of the ocean

The monument will be erected by both nations associated in this fraternal achievement as they were formerly to carry out the Independence We shall annually offer our American friends the statue and they on their side will meet the expenses of the pedestal

Thus shall we consolidate by an eternal remembrance the friendship which has been sealed by the blood of both peoples' forefathers

Let us unite to celebrate this fete of modern people we must be numerous to give to this manifestation the fervor which it requires in order to equal the ever memorable and past events Let each one bring his obole, how ever trifling each person offering may be it will be received with thanks Let the number of subscribers show the sentiments of France

We shall organize our lists in volumes which will be offered to our American friends

The members of the committee, most grateful for the friendship with which they have been honored in America assumed the direction of the movement the example will be nobly followed on the other side of the ocean We hope to meet with sympathetic adhesions everywhere

On the 7th instant while towing out of Umpqua, the bark H Hostetter was boarded by two heavy breakers which stove the forward house and washed bites hawser and part of the deck load over the stern At the same time the vessel struck heavily and sprung a leak that increased during the night so that there was three feet of water in the hold Part of the deck load was thrown off by which means she was relieved Next day the vessel returned off the bar, but was unable to cross and it required five extra hands from the tug Fearless to bring her to port Her memorandu describes the gale as being terrible

LETTER FROM GRANT COUNTY

Canon City Nov 12, 187[illegible]

To the Editor of the Oregonian

AGRICULTURE

Being the chief business upon which our national prosperity and greatness depend we give it a place at the head of this communication, and briefly state to the farmers of this valley have just finished threshing their crops, which by the way have yielded handsomely Our granaries are full and plenty smiles from every rural home

THE SEASON

Has been the most favorable for harvesting and securing hay and grain ever before known in this county Indeed we have had no rain storms until very recently to either obstruct farming operations or injure the growing or matured crops

Our hay was secured in the finest condition, and with an abundance of straw well stacked and improvements in shelter, stock men in the immediate settlements may smile at the coming storms, and laugh when spring time comes!!

Pursuant to an order of Gen Howard, who a short time since was on a visit of inspection to Camp Harney that military post is soon to be removed to a more favorable locality For the purpose of selecting a new location and more fully carrying out the provisions of said order Col Green, accompanied by Lieut Van Dorn and other officers from Harney, have been out on a tour of observation, and from what we can learn are very favorably impressed with several different points in the Upper John Day valley but more particularly with a certain place on

DIXE CREEK

This would be a very judicious selection for a military post Being a natural camping ground, it combines all of those natural advantages, water grass, timber and salubrious atmosphere so essential to the convenience and comfort of a military post. This is not all Grain can be procured at this point at half the usual rates furnished at Harney The climate here is much milder, less snow in winter, and therefore less forage required In brief, the change if made, will save annually to the government thousands of dollars, besides putting the military in a more favorable position to give protection to the settlements and Malheur agency or in operating against the Indians in case of a general outbreak The officers, and even soldiers by permission could here have access to church service and only other benefits of society, not attainable in extreme frontier life.

THE COLUMBIA AND UMATILLA INDIANS

Have been a source of great annoyance to the settlers of this valley during the last summer We some time since called attention of the authorities to this matter, and intimated, that unless these Indians were taken care of trouble would likely ensue A few weeks since, having become emboldened by repeated liberties granted them, they entered a Chinese mining camp at John Day City, and compelled these defenseless people to give them whisky They then entered the streets of Canyon City in drunken revelry, causing timid people to quake with fear, and modest ones to blush at their obscenity They next went into John Day City and demanded a Chinaman's money the Chinaman called upon white man for protection, white man interfered, got himself into trouble an Indian drew a knife and was about to give the fatal blow, when a rock from unseen hands, struck him in the forehead The knife fell to the ground, and so did he—i e, the Indian General excitement Had not Sam Parrish, of the Malheur agency been in Canyon City at the time and prevailed upon the Indians to leave this valley before the light of another day a general fight would no doubt

THE RICH DEVELOPMENTS

In gold and silver bearing quartz, our extensive plains of mexhaustible native grasses, and our rich agricultural lands are all having a tendency to attract immigration Luther Grant county is filling up with an industrious and enterprising population and still there is room for many thousands more to take homesteads or invest in the richest mineral ledges on the coast Canyon City is going to have a newspaper, Mr Gale, lately from Portland publisher and proprietor Mr Gale seems to be a very intelligent and clever gentleman has had considerable experience as a writer and publisher, and we heartily wish him success

D R R

THE TERRITORIES

The Beaver Enterprise reports the mining interests of Southern Utah looking up Bonanzas are becoming as common as so many rose fuse piles in that section.

The British ship Green Jacket 1 034 tons, has been chartered at San Francisco to come to the Sound and take a load of lumber to Iquique Peru, at $20 a thousand feet

A gentleman who passed over the road from Seattle to the Masonic cemetery says that he counted over 111 trees prostrated across it between the two places and that the road is just about destroyed

At Salt Lake the Mormon women held a meeting last week and about 40 of them signed a petition to Congress to admit Utah into the Union as a State A respectable Gentile woman is to carry the petition to Washington and help Sargent to get the bill of admission through Congress

Some time last week, four men started in a boat from Seattle with the intention of going to Port Gamble When off Madison Head the boat upset and three of them were fortunate enough to swim ashore, but one, named Murphy, was drowned The deceased was lately a fireman on the steamer Panhandle

A circular is issued, signed by fifteen logging firms, calling for a convention of the loggers of Puget Sound, to be held at Seattle, on the first day of December to fix the price of logs The movement, it is stated, is not inimical to purchasers but to secure uniformity of rates and a concert of action Mill owners are invited to be present

The Seattle Tribune says At Port Gamble, as at other lower Sound places, on the 16th there was a great fall of, snow, it laying upon the ground from three to six inches deep At Port Madison the big shipbuilding shed was blown down and we understand that some damage was done to the hotel At Freeport

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 22, 1875.

THE GOVERNOR'S REASON.

The reason assigned by Governor Grover's organ, the Salem Mercury, for his granting the pardon of a person recently convicted of embezzlement is that the persons signing the petition for the pardon represented to him certain facts which showed the case to be one eminently proper for the exercise of executive clemency. Anticipating the query which the intelligent reader would naturally raise upon such a statement as to why the man was convicted, if such exculpatory facts existed, the Mercury says these facts were not before the court that tried the man. But why were they not before the court? That question is not answered by the Mercury. The person referred to had good counsel and was ably defended. The judge is a man who inclines always to the side of mercy in criminal cases, preferring rather to see the guilty escape than punish the innocent. There is no technical rule of law that prevents one charged with embezzlement from showing in defense that his cash balance has fallen short not because he has appropriated the money of his employer feloniously but because there is an honest difference as to what the balance should be, or because he has overdrawn his account but with no dishonest purpose. Such is claimed to have been the showing upon which Governor Grover pardoned the person alluded to. Will the Governor who is a lawyer, and a good lawyer too, dare say that defense could not have been made before the Court, if it existed? We trow not. But, without inquiring of the judge who tried the case, and we presume, without waiting for notice of the application to be given to the District Attorney as required by law, he accepted as conclusive the general statement of a number of excellent people who did not pretend to have been present at the trial, and turned the convict loose on the community before he had suffered a week's imprisonment—before he had so much as seen the inside of the Penitentiary, if we are correctly informed.

Such use of the pardoning power is an abuse of it, no matter under what circumstances of pressure. The action of the excellent citizens who signed on hearsay the representations of fact without knowing their truth, while it is censurable, is no justification of the Governor's conduct in the premises. He is Governor of Oregon, but he is subject to the laws, and ought to render obedience to them himself and not to thwart their enforcement by the officers and agencies created and established for that purpose. There are in which the giving of a pardon is but carrying out the spirit of the law, but the mode of proceeding to prevent imposition upon the Executive, and upon the people through him, in such cases, is fixed by law, and he has no more right to disregard that than the judges have to measure the rights of men by their own sympathies instead of by rules of law.

We have not cited this case out of any feeling against the person pardoned; for we have never seen him and did not know until after he was arrested that the world. But it is in point to illustrate the worst feature of the abuse of the pardoning power, short of corruption, of which we believe Governor Grover to be as far above suspicion as any man who has ever filled the executive chair of Oregon. We have purposely omitted the name of the person pardoned, because we would not lay a straw in the way of any attempt of his to regain the place he has lost in the esteem of his fellow men. But the good people who signed the petition without considering well the responsibility they took on themselves, and a too good Governor who disregarded the law in order to grant a request of his friends, in the case, is a subject to reflect upon. When any of them have a case in court, they will probably complain if the judge departs from a reasonably strict construction of the law, in order to carry out his ideas of justice, to their hurt; but they will hardly remember that their influence has been exerted in another case—perhaps in many others—to annul the judgments of the court because they were pronounced in accordance with law.

CURSED TO REST.

At last the grave of poor Guibord is allowed to rest undisturbed. But not till it has been cursed by the priest. Little recks Guibord of the curses of priests now. He has passed beyond their power to harm him in body or spirit. Six years he died. For six years there has been a war over the disposal of his ashes. An appeal to the highest court of the British empire was won by the dead man, and he came back from London to lie down in his own tomb. But the religious fanatics would not yet give up the struggle, and it became necessary to use the military arm of the government to carry into effect the decree of the court. And the phrenzy of the ignorant fanatics was such that it was considered unsafe even to entrust the body to the embrace of mother earth, as it would be torn away and rent in pieces as soon as the place should be vacated. So an immense sarcophagus of solid stone was hewn out, in which the remains might be placed, and sealed with another stone too heavy to be removed by many men. Hydraulic cement makes the two immense stones one, in the center of which safe alike from the curses of the church and the fury of the mob will lie till the last trump shall sound, the remains of a man who, though unknown to fame while he moved among his fellows, made more stir in the world after his death than most do while living.

THE LAST DISCLOSURES.

There are two sides to the story implicating certain government officials in the whisky frauds at the West; at least there are two sides to the swearing on the subject. None of those who testified Saturday attempted to deny the connection of Avery, Chief Clerk of the Revenue Bureau, with the frauds, but they exonerate Gen. Babcock and the rest. It is singular that Babcock should have been in correspondence with Joyce, and that the latter should have been able to assure the manufacturers of the crooked of their safety from interference from Washington, on letters from Babcock, if he had nothing to do with the matter. Still it is to be remembered that Joyce was endeavoring to convince the manufacturers of their perfect security in order to make profit to himself, and it is not at all inconceivable that he might have pretended that he had such letters from Babcock, when in fact he had no letters of any sent from him. The way the evidence now stands, and until further investigation throws new light on the subject, the guilt or innocence of Babcock, Orville Grant et al is something which Lord Dundreary would say "no fellow can find out." There is a great deal of truth, however, in the commonly received idea that there can not be very much smoke without some fire.

EMINENTLY SATISFACTORY.

It is exceedingly pleasant to note that the decision of Chief Justice White, of Utah, vacating the order of Judge McKean requiring Brigham Young to pay Ann Eliza a large sum as alimony, is "satisfactory" to the cabinet at Washington. We have always had a sneaking notion that Ann Eliza was presuming a good deal upon the credulity of mankind when she told the world that she became Brigham's tenth or twentieth, or thirtieth concubine under a delusion that she was doing no wrong; and entertaining this notion, we have not been inclined to take much stock in the sufferings and sorrows of Ann Eliza. To speak more plainly, we have believed Ann Eliza to be a fraud. This makes it the more comfortable to read in the dispatches that the decision of the court, against her, on a question of law, is "satisfactory" to the power that makes and unmakes courts in the Territories. It would be pleasant to see that the decisions of Judge Green, for instance, of Washington Territory, or, Judge Lewis, of the same Territory, were being overhauled from day to day in cabinet meetings. It would lend such a sense of certainty and regularity and security to personal rights of citizens.

The London Times has come to the conclusion that Turkey cannot hold Herzegovina, and that that is as much a fixed fact as if "the powers" had so agreed. And therefore hints are thrown out about Austria's incorporating Herzegovina. Perhaps that is the best that could happen for the Herzegovinians, who must be well nigh worn out by the oppressions they have endured. Austria is a Christian and Catholic power, and so far her system of government would be congenial to the Herzegovinians. But it would be quite as gratifying to everybody except "the powers" if Servia and Bosnia and the other Sclavonic principalities of that sublimated fraud known as the Sublime Porte, would go out with the Herzegovinians, with whom they are identified in language, religion, customs and geographical and commercial relations, and form a new and independent nationality. It is time for some honest man to kick in the shell of the Ottoman empire and let it collapse. It has long outlived its usefulness, if it ever had any, and has been unable for a generation to show any reason for its continued existence.

A Washington special says the third term scheme is becoming more popular in official circles. If that is so it will begin to be seen that it is the third term that is becoming more unpopular with the people. The people who constitute official circles, from the President down, may as well give themselves no trouble on this subject. There is no reason to fear that the National Republican Convention will nominate Grant, and if in a moment of madness they should do so there is no reason to fear the people will forget the traditional law of the Republic before the day of the election. The chances are more than a hundred to one there will be no third term candidate in the field, and a thousand to one there will be no third term.

The Salem Statesman, incensed at our exposure of its theft of the OREGONIAN's report of steamships lost on the North Pacific Coast, retorts that the editorials of the OREGONIAN are stolen. The original owner of them is not named, however. We are certain that the Statesman's editorials are not stolen; or, at all events, that nobody can be found who will admit the authorship of them in order to reclaim the stolen property.

Another vessel has gone to pieces from the effects of old age, sending a crew of eight persons to be food for the fishes. The hull of the brig Willimantic has been found north of San Francisco bay. She was near twenty-five years old, and, of course, unfit to encounter a gale, as any vessel of that age is.

The Tribune places in juxtaposition the not results of the fall elections, so far as they touch the question of inflation, thus: "Against inflation: Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Massachusetts; for inflation: Samuel F. Cary, Judge Kelley, Wendell Phillips and Richard Schell."

In the last legislature of New Jersey, the Democrats had a majority of seventeen on joint ballot. In the legislator elected on the 2d instant the Republicans have a majority of seventeen.

CITY.

REMAINS OF THE LATE MRS HELMUTH —On Thursday evening, the body of Mrs. Helmuth, who was lost on board the Pacific arrived here from Port Townsend en route to Walla Walla for interment The remains were brought to this city in obedience to instructions telegraphed to Port Townsend by Mrs. Farrelly, sister of deceased Encased in a metallic casket, filled with alcohol, the body was conveyed here, and arrived in a remarkably good state of preservation Before its shipment to Walla Walla the body was taken to the undertaker's and the spirits changed While engaged in preparing the remains for the second shipment the discovery was made that the bone of the right leg near its attachment to the body was badly crushed A deep cut was found on the inside of the thigh at the point where the bone was fractured The wound was nearly eight inches in length and extended clear to the bone From the appearance of the gash it seems to have been inflicted by some object having a blunt and ragged edge Deceased was wearing at the time of the disaster a thick, heavy flannel undershirt which was found to be cut and torn as if struck violently with pieces of wood or iron The wound presented a burned appearance as if scalded, and the opinion has been expressed that at the moment the steamer steamer sunk the boilers exploded, and a fragment of iron struck Mrs. Helmuth and inflicted the injuries mentioned If such is the case and the supposition is not an unreasonable one it is more than probable that the unfortunate lady was killed outright and was thus spared the horrors of death at the hands of the merciless waves In addition to the injuries mentioned, there was a small abrasion on the nose as if some light object had come in contact with that portion of the face. Friday morning the body was forwarded to its destination for sepulture

LATE CAPT. JEFF. D HOWELL —The following brief biographical sketch of Capt Jeff D Howell, who had command of the ill starred Pacific when she was lost, may not prove uninteresting to the public. Capt J D Howell was born in Natchez, Miss, in the year 1841 was appointed at Annapolis, served as midshipman with honor under Commodores Tucker and Tattnall at Charleston, South Carolina served with credit in the James river squadron under Captains Wood, Parker and Hunter Afterwards at Charleston, under Commodore Tucker, in command of a picket boat After the fall of Charleston he was a lieutenant of artillery in the naval brigade under General Semmes, formerly of the Confederate navy, was surrendered under Gen Lee's cartel Joined Jefferson Davis at Washington, Georgia, and was with him at the time of his capture, was then imprisoned at Fortress Monroe, where he was held for some time released, he went to Savannah, Georgia where he was again imprisoned From thence he joined his brother in Canada and soon after visited England Returning by way of Portland, Maine, he was again arrested and sent to Fort Warren, where he was detained for a few weeks and released He then returned to Canada and from thence went to New York, and went to sea before the mast Finally, was engaged with Pomeroy on the New York News. Closing, his engagement with the News he sailed on a ship bound for China as quartermaster, from thence he returned to San Francisco about five years since as 3d Asst Pacific Mail Steamship Company in all the positions and as a commander, also for the Oriental Steamship Company and the North Pacific Transportation Company as commander of the steamships Idaho, Montana, Pekoan and Oregonian

MAN OVERBOARD —A man, whose name we have not learned, had the misfortune to fall into the river from Flanders' wharf on Friday night, and narrowly escaped death by drowning He was standing on the upper dock near the edge, looking out into the stream At the time he was standing on a small piece of scantling which he thoughtlessly kept rocking to and fro with his feet The stick of timber was floating a few inches of the outer edge and hitting the man was fairly aware of the fact he was in the water, and he was falling into the river It was about 20 feet down to the water and the man on striking that element sunk from sight He rose struggling to the surface and struck out toward land but being able to swim a few strokes called assistance. Fortunately a skiff was moored to the lying near, and a number of men were given by, who, on hearing the cries for help rushed to the rescue of the imperiled man Several pieces of lumber were thrown into the water, one of which came near striking the man on the head. Ropes were thrown to him, but it seemed after all that the man must perish before assistance could reach him. Just at that critical moment a man leaped after the drowning person He was an expert swimmer, and on reaching the man held his head above water until he could grasp the end of a rope which had been thrown out to him. In this manner he was safely rescued from what would inevitably have been a watery grave.

STOCK TAKING SALE —Telegraphic intelligence reached here yesterday of the sinking of the O S N Co's steamer Fairoaks on Saturday evening The Fairoaks was descending the river from Wallula, and while crossing John Day's Rapids struck on a rock A large hole was stove in the hull, causing the boat to sink in a very short time. She had on board a full cargo of freight. Full particulars have not been learned of the disaster, but it is feared that both cargo and boat will prove a total loss. Mr. John Gates, chief builder of the company, will start for the scene this morning He will go first to Lewiston, the point where the steamer was last seen, and make an examination for the purpose of determining whether her condition will warrant the company in attempting to raise her If the boat is a total loss, it will be a heavy loss to the company, as it will seriously interrupt navigation on the Upper Columbia Some months ago the Tenino ran on a rock and sank, and since then has been on the ways at Celilo having a new hull built At present the Onyhee is the only available steamer above Celilo. To day the extent and character of the damage sustained will be known.

PERSONAL —The steamship Oriflamme sailed from this port for San Francisco last Saturday evening with a full freight and the following passengers: Oscar Myers, Master Wm H Hauser, F Freedman, wife and child, David Crumrine, wife and child, Isaac Osborn, Mr Kahn Mrs S M [illegible] Mrs Dunham, H W Scott, M S [illegible] C M Cleveland, J. M. Servigant, wife and child, J. Matschek, W. C Wallace, W R Trowbridge A. L. W. Spato, wife and two children, Miss Lizzie Dougherty, Mrs. A D Smith, Miss Warren Mrs McBittler and child, M. S. Elmore, G. W. Clapp R. Adams, Miss Lulu Howard, Thos Cunningham, wife and infant, Mary Flynn and two sisters Dr R. Jones, U. S. A. S. Baldwin, W. K. Reed, Jas. H. C. Kelly, W. J. Hardy, J. B. Collins, H. M. Hogwell, Heiman Dhone Mrs. L. Joel, S. Cohen, Allen Dewey Mrs. L. F. Knowlton and daughter, Miss Frank Lakore, B. St. Clair L. H. Patterson Mrs. M. Trimball and two children W W Dickinson and daughter, Geo Sessler A R Chase, F. Shield, Wells, Fargo & Co's agent and 25 in steerage.

Y. M. C. A. ENTERTAINMENT —To raise funds to furnish reading room for the carpet, stove, chairs and other greatly needed furniture for the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., the ladies having in charge the entertainment to be given to-morrow (Tuesday) evening, at the rooms of the Association, are able to announce that on that occasion Mrs. C. A. Dolph, Mrs H C Page Mrs. J D Eaton, Miss Lamberson the Chalmers sisters, Rev. Mr. Butcher of The Dalles and perhaps some other ladies and gentlemen, Rev. Mr. Butcher of The Dalles will sing so sweetly the Dream that Came Home, Miss Gleo Capt B B Tuttle Charles Lancaster, Master Brown and Capt Wm Watson will fill up the evening with recitations, readings and instrumental solos Certainly the object and the list of those who have kindly consented to appear Mrs Paige and Miss Wilkinson for the first time giving recitations and readings—should fill the rooms to overflowing. Tickets fifty cents

O. R. N. Co's BARGES —Saturday the steamer Annie Stewart came up the river from Astoria having in tow the barges Columbia and Idaho and The former craft lies moored at the low water mark of the O S N Co's dock but the latter was left at the boneyard to undergo repairs. The Idaho, it will be remembered, was badly damaged at Astoria last week during the heavy storm.

CENTENNIAL FLAG —Captain Tom Mountain, of the Portland Light Battery, has, we understand, given orders for a large flag that is to be made in San Francisco, and which will be completed in time for being displayed on the Fourth of July, 1876 It will be, when finished among the largest flags on the coast being 100 feet long and 60 wide Messrs Norcross & Co of San Francisco have the order for manufacturing the flag This flag will be displayed from the summit of a lofty staff 200 feet high, which is to be erected expressly for the purpose on the one hundredth anniversary of our nation's independence The colors are to be 100 feet in length, in order to represent one foot for every year since the adoption of the Declaration of Independence Captain Tom has commenced a long time ahead in order to have everything ready for the notable event

LYCEUM AT OSWEGO —A literary society has recently been organized at Oswego which bears the name of the Oswego Equal Rights Lyceum This society meets on the first and third Thursday evenings of each month As yet the membership is quite limited but as the society grows in age will doubtless increase The following are the officers President A R Shipley vice president John M Libbey secretary A. R Cyrus treasurer M K Shipley sergeant-at-arms, E Crichton On last Thursday evening the proposition City life is preferable to country life' was freely discussed and decided by the president in favor of the negative The question for debate at the next meeting is Resolved That a Republican form of government is stronger than a Monarchy

MISS EMMA MILLER —This lady who volunteered at the entertainment given at Masonic Hall on Friday evening last, resides at Oregon City and this was her first appearance before a Portland audience Miss Miller is quite young, and promises to become one of the finest singers in our State She has recently graduated from the Boston Conservatory of Music, and the manner in which she acquitted herself on Friday evening is proof that she is most thoroughly versed in the "divine art Her voice though not strong, is full and sweet and she controls it with great ease, which together with her modest demeanor on the stage made her a favorite with her and once With fortune in her favor we predict for her popularity as a singer

THE STORM NORTH —From the havoc the storm has played with the line north, it must have raged with great violence For some days the line has been prostrate in that direction and yesterday dispatches could be transmitted no further north than Tacoma Repairers have been out along the line every day but their labors appear to avail but little A party started out from Seattle a few days since and within the distance of ten or twelve miles found fifty trees that had fallen across the line Some idea may be formed of the ravages of the storm from this fact To day it is hoped that connection will be restored as far north as Victoria.

COMPLIMENTARY TO THIS COAST —A gentleman writing from Lodi, New Jersey under date of 6th inst, says 'When I wrote you last I expected to have visited your section ere this, and have settled in your midst somewhere but could not get away this year I have great faith in the future of your city, and shall gladly read everything pertaining to it You may not be ignorant of the fact that at the present time the Pacific coast from San Diego to Olympia, is attracting a great deal of attention from its Eastern people, and if with in a few years we arrive in finances to a specie pass, capital will flow in to your region"

CHINESE ANNIVERSARY CONCERT —This evening the anniversary concert will be given at the auditorium of the First Baptist church, by the pupils and teachers of the Chinese mission school A lengthy and varied programme has been prepared which will be offered on the occasion The exercises are calculated to display the proficiency made by the Chinese pupils during the past year, toward acquiring a knowledge of our language and the rudimentary principles of an English education and promises to be quite interesting Exercises will commence at 7 30 sharp Admission 25 cents.

LINE BROKE —While the large iron ship Carmarthen Castle was passing the boneyard Saturday afternoon on the way to Flanders wharf, one of her lofty masts caught on the telegraph wires, stretched across the river, and snapped it in twain like a thread It belonged to the O S N Co's line, and consequently cut off communication from Eastern Oregon Men were engaged yesterday in putting up the wire, but had not restored communication at a late hour in the afternoon

SERIOUSLY ILL —Mr Cradelbaugh, who has been confined to his bed by illness for several weeks, we regret to state is not improving as rapidly as could be hoped, and unless he should rally fears are entertained that he will not recover It is thought advisable that he be not visited except by his nearest friends for the present

RESIGNED —Harvey W Scott Esq, has, we are informed recently tendered his resignation as one of the directors for the Oregon Central Railroad, which has been accepted.

CONDEMNED OUT OF HIS OWN MOUTH

The Astorian's high regard for 'fairness and sincerity,' the editor's boasted reputation in Oregon as in other States where he has resided' publishes the following items concerning the damage done by the storm at Astoria last week

It is estimated that the damage to the barge Astoria and the loss of 300 tons of wheat will foot up to about $2 500

During the storm on Tuesday night the new residence of Street Commissioner Henry Miller was razed to the ground, and the roof was partially torn off C. Trullinger's new steam sawmill

Tuesday's storm burst the boom chains of a large raft of piles and logs in Scow bay which, besides doing considerable damage to others carried away a part of Mr Thacher's building together with tools provisions etc etc and compelled him to move back again to the corner of Main and Chenoweth streets.

Mr S N Arrington's house located on a five acre piece of land between Astoria and Young's bay, was considerably damaged by the falling tall timber during Tuesday night. The occupant Mr Betts, barely escaped The house at first Ella was crushed by falling timber also. The destruction of trees was fearful during the gale.

After publishing the above and several other items concerning the ravages of the storm the Astorian says

The storm did positively less damage at Astoria than at any point able to its reach, certain negligences excepted

Now it being well known that the storm did not damage anything in Portland to the extent of 25 cents the regard of the Astorian for truth is certainly demonstrated to be exceedingly infinitesimal

THE LOST PACIFIC.

From the Victoria Colonist, of the 8th we collate the following items concerning the late disaster

The inquest pending in Victoria on the bodies recovered from the wrecked Pacific was continued on Tuesday of last week Mr Robertson an attorney appeared before the jury on behalf of the steamship owners and asked an adjournment to enable the owners to produce further evidence The jury were also of opinion that an adjournment was desirable as they wish d to examine several persons who had not given evidence although the jury considered them capable of throwing light upon the cause of the disaster The inquiry was then adjourned pending till one o'clock on Friday

The superintendent of police left Victoria for Port Townsend on the 10th inst in full information from the sailors of the ship Orpheus concerning the late terrible disaster

The A Fraser who was lost on the Pacific was Alexander Fraser, of Pictou Nova Scotia

At a meeting of the common council of Victoria the following resolution was read by the clerk That the thanks of the Victoria municipal council be tendered to the owners of the Oneida Telfair through their agent, Mr. Goodhue, for the responsibility he assumed and the promptness with which he acted in response to the unanimous desire of the community also for the humane energy and efficiency displayed by the officers and crew in gathering together such information as would lead to the discovery of the cause of the greatest calamity that has ever occurred to this community, viz the loss of the steamer Pacific on her voyage from Victoria to San Francisco and further, that the company deserve to receive through us, the representatives of this municipality our sincere thanks for their liberality in performing all those kindnesses at their own expense which will ever redound to the honors in these humane efforts to give succor to the distressed to the hearts of the citizens of Victoria

THE STORM NORTH —From the havoc the storm has played with the line north, it must have raged with great violence For some days the line has been prostrate in that direction and yesterday dispatches could be transmitted no further north than Tacoma Repairers have been out along the line every day but their labors appear to avail but little A party started out from Seattle a few days since and within the distance of ten or twelve miles found fifty trees that had fallen across the line Some idea may be formed of the ravages of the storm from this fact To day it is hoped that connection will be restored as far north as Victoria.

LETTER FROM SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Nov 19 1875

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Last Tuesday night, the 15th will be long remembered by the people of Seattle as witnessing one of the most terrific gales ever experienced by even the oldest inhabitant." The gale commenced at about 9 30 and increased in its once until midnight after which it gradually abated Families living out in the woods and near the town were in constant danger of being crushed to pieces by falling timber One family so located, just escaped from their house when a large tree fell across the building mashing it to pieces The tree fell upon that portion of the house in which this family were sleeping Other houses were injured by falling timber, more or less, though none as badly as it — windows smashed, porches wrecked, etc. In town, serious damage was sustained One house was turned completely over, the family escaping others, to the number of half a dozen, were thrown off their foundations and put upon the ground Minor disasters, such as balconies, railings, chimneys, cornices etc, were demolished on all sides The pillars supporting the front portion of the University building were started considerably out of perpendicular while some of the chimneys were blown to the ground

The frame of H L Yesler's new wharf addition was destroyed and the wharf of Dick Atkins in the southern portion of the city was destroyed Stone & Burnett's old wharf was blown down A wagon belonging to Messrs Morril & Morris, left on the wharf, ran off into the water

The roads are blockaded hopelessly in every direction and the telegraph lines broken in perhaps a thousand places The hills to the north and the northeast look barren and stripped of their heavy coating of timber

The Seattle Coal Co had 30 men employed all day yesterday in clearing their railroad track of fallen timber, and it was only late in the evening that coal could be brought through It was a night of great anxiety to very many in Seattle, and will not soon be forgotten The wind's course was from south west to northwest

For the past week the weather has been very bad and to day the ground is covered with snow On last Tuesday snow fell to a depth of four or five inches

WASHINGTON TERRITORY AND THE CENTENNIAL

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

There seems to be a strange apathy and want of appreciation on the part of the people and legislature of this Territory in regard to the forthcoming Centennial Exhibition in Philadelphia The importance of having a full exhibition of the products of the Territory at that exposition ought to be so manifest to any body who will give it thought that it seems surprising so little interest is shown in regard to it Our great want is population to develop the resources of the Territory, and one of the most important questions now before us—is of the most important—is how shall we encourage immigration to the Territory? Many efforts have been and are being made to accomplish that object Immigration societies are forming pamphlets are being published agents are employed all for that purpose, and yet the most important opportunity that ever has been offered or is ever likely to be to show the world the advantages we offer to immigrants in search of homes, seems likely to be entirely overlooked, or if seen at all thrown away

The Centennial Exhibition will be, in every sense of the word, a World's Exposition Every civilized nation, and many who call themselves uncivilized, will vie with each other in exhibiting their products and manufactures Here some of the foreign nations and several of our own States will expend large sums of money for the purpose of encouraging a full representation of their products at the Exposition and why? not because they expect to eclipse the rest of the world by the splendor of their exhibits but because the experience of former expositions has shown them that every dollar so expended has been returned to them tenfold by the increased trade it has brought them in so advertising what they had to sell and just there is where we are likely to be grand losers for want of taking advantage of this opportunity to show the world what our climate and soil can produce

In conjuction with Oregon we have a climate and soil in which crops never have been known to fail Of the great staple of the world—wheat no country can produce better, and experience has shown that the vast region of country east of the Cascade mountains—hundreds of thousands of acres of which are now lying vacant—is as good land for the production of wheat as any in the world that country with the immense forests of Western Washington the wonderful salmon and other fisheries of the Columbia river and Puget Sound, the fruits and other products of the Territory only want to be shown to attract the attention of the world, and yet nothing is likely to be done

At the late session of the legislature at Olympia the governor, in his message called attention to the subject in a forcible manner, and a bill was offered appropriating $1 000 for the purpose of paying for the transportation of any articles from the Territory offered for exhibition and for the expense actually incurred in exhibiting them—a very small sum for that purpose but it would have been enough to have started on, and would no doubt have been added to by individuals interested in the welfare of the Territory This bill, it seems was allowed to sleep in the hands of a committee, after having once passed the lower house, and was not called up for final action, so that through carelessness or indifference or some unexplained reason on the part of our legislature. Washington Territory is likely to have the unenviable distinction of being the only one of our sisterhood of States and Territories unrepresented at the grand national jubilee of which, as a resident of the Territory I, for one am anything but proud

Hydrops cannot cure you go and consult Dr Wood, at American Exchange.

ALARMING SPREAD OF TRICHINASIS.

The Transactions of the Indiana State Medical Society 1875 contain a report on trichinasis, by Dr George Sutton of Aurora Indiana, which contains the following alarming observations

From microscopic examination of pork killed in packing houses in Indiana we have found from three to fifteen per cent of the hogs affected with trichinæ the number of hogs diseased varying greatly in different localities

That over five million hogs are slaughtered and packed in the Western States, most including those which are put up for family use by the farmers, that if four per cent of this pork is diseased which we believe to be a low estimate we have two hundred and twenty one thousand four hundred and eighty four diseased hogs put annually upon the market, or at an average of two hundred pounds to the hog, forty four millions two hundred and ninety six thousand eight hundred pounds of diseased meat, every ounce of which under favorable circumstances, is capable of producing disease

That from the cases of trichinasis that come under our observation, and the post mortems we have made, we feel upon diseased meats we have come to the conclusion that ninety per cent of diseases produced from eating trichinous pork appears either as gastro enteritis or as a diarrhea or dysentery, and not more than ten per cent as the fully developed form of trichinasis, in which the muscular system becomes affected

That as diarrhea, dysentery, and enteritis rank high as causes of mortality in the United States, these diseases causing thirty one thousand one hundred and fifty three deaths in 1870 as shown by the last census reports and as we have seen that a large amount of trichinous pork capable of producing these diseases, is among the principal articles of food in our country, we think it more than probable that trichinæ have a much greater influence in the etiology of this class of diseases than has been recognized by the profession

That it is highly probable that when the fact becomes more generally known that so large a percentage of pork is swarming with trichinæ capable of producing disease, it may have an effect upon the use of this meat and consequently affect the sale to some extent of one of the principal articles of commerce in the West

TAKING THE CENSUS.—Just by way of comparison it may be well to state that the entire cost of the last census of the British Islands which was taken in a single day, amounted to $630,000 being $100 000, or 25 per cent more than the cost of the enumeration of 1861, and was at the rate of $20 41 per thousand of the population. Has any account of the cost of taking the United States census yet been calculated and published? In the ensuing session of Congress it is not improbable that a proposal will be made to have a census taken next spring, so that the actual population of this nation a century after it commenced its existence may be ascertained and published by the 10th of May when the Centennial Exhibition will begin. It would scarcely answer to rest in 1876, on the census of 1870 Our population has largely increased since that was taken.—Philadelphia Press.

Rev. W. D. Nichols now has charge of the academy at Sheridan, and it is prospering well

The general market is void of important fluctuations and in financial circles the volume of business is small The resources of the banks are ample to meet the wants of their regular customers and to supply any requirement likely to come from the ordinary operations of the trade of the community The drain upon the finances of this market for the purpose of moving the wheat crop has been unusually heavy during the past month but is temporarily checked by the stormy weather the decline in prices and the non arrival of vessels.

In the general merchandise market the movement is small, as might be expected under the circumstances but no peculiar features of disorganization are manifest, and a partial activity in the line of order business is prevailing, and the advent of moderately good weather may yet witness a very satisfactory amount of transactions in general trade circles.

In the line of domestic produce there is noticed but little change since our last review The movement of breadstuffs toward tide water is still quite large but is slightly falling off There being now in port but two foreign bound vessels loading or to load we may not expect the activity before existing to prevail until further arrivals from sea. We have nothing new in prices since yesterday The little firmness noticed is still felt, and the reports from San Francisco and Liverpool, showing no depreciation we feel encouraged to hope that the bottom has been reached
